

PT3 Grant for Preservice Teachers

TCEA Convention 2001 Scholarships

Any preservice teacher who is enrolled full time in a teacher preparation program is eligible for full convention registration at "2001: A Technology Odyssey," Feb. 7, 8, and 9 in Austin.

TCEA is working to make a difference in the education of preservice teachers and their use of technology in the classrooms of the future. To this end, TCEA is a partner with the University of North Texas in a U.S. Department of Education Grant called "Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Bridge the Digital Divide." As a part of TCEA's contribution to the grant, 100 scholarships are being made available to full-time students in a teacher preparation program in any Texas college or university.

Anyone reading TechEdge right now already knows what an incredible opportunity it is to attend TCEA. Imagine being in college, almost ready to start your teaching career, and someone gives you the chance to attend the TCEA convention. How fabulous would it be if you could attend presentations by teachers who are on the cutting edge of technology integration, mingle with Texas' finest classroom teachers, walk through vendor displays of the newest hardware and software, and see first-hand how to successfully implement technology usage into a classroom? These scholarships, valued at $100 each, allow preservice teachers to attend all three days of the 2001 convention.

Please help spread the word. If you are a teacher education faculty member in the state of Texas, consider bringing your class and encourage your students to apply. If you're a preservice teacher in the state of Texas, apply now and we hope to see you February 7, 8, and 9, 2001, in Austin!
